

Reviewing proofs with PageProof

Welcome to PageProof: A Smarter Way to Review Creative Work

UF/IFAS Communications is excited to introduce PageProof, our new online proofing platform designed to enhance your experience when reviewing and approving creative projects. This transition marks a significant upgrade from our previous system, Workfront Proof, offering a more intuitive, efficient, and collaborative environment for feedback.

Why PageProof?

PageProof streamlines the review process with a clean, user-friendly interface and powerful features that make collaboration easier than ever. Whether you're reviewing a brochure, social media graphic, video, or other creative asset, PageProof allows you to:

- Comment directly on the proof with precise annotations and feedback.
- Collaborate in real time with other reviewers, reducing email back-and-forth.
- Track changes and approvals with full transparency and version control.
- Enjoy enhanced security, ensuring your feedback and files are protected.

This system is designed to save you time, reduce confusion, and make the review process more enjoyable and productive.
